

Biography:

Dr. Christian K. Hansen is President of the IEEE Reliability Society and Associate Dean and Head of the School of Computing and Engineering Sciences at Eastern Washington University (EWU). He is been a faculty member at EWU since 1993 and served in a variety of academic and administrative leadership positions. Prior to his current leadership position, he served as department chair for eight years. He has been active in the reliability profession for over 25 years and published broadly on a variety of engineering applications, mostly related to reliability modeling and failure data analysis for complex electronic systems. Over the past two decades he has been active with the IEEE Reliability Society and has served in leadership positions that include vice-president of publications and treasurer before being elected to president in 2013. Dr. Hansen is a graduate of the Technical University of Denmark with degrees in Electrical Engineering (MS, 1988) and Statistics (PhD, 1991).